Hi Alyssa,

Everything is okay, The delete button deleted the transaction and the derc-retained certificate D2459 which is exactly what we want the system to do. I have deleted the derc-buy transaction that was left.

You have to recreate the derc-sell and derc-buy transactions again and input the correct certificates.

>>> Alyssa Aston 12/28/2009 4:36 PM >>>

Hi Ann,

I was recently given a pile of old pending DOW transactions, and I'm wading through them. I think I just made a mistake that requires a repair by you - sorry. I just put together the package for project 403019 (hasn't gone through the management chain yet). In that project, Dow is selling 7 tons of NOx DERCS to Exelon from D-1149 and retaining 13.1 tons. Dow's new certificate is D-2452, and Exelon's certificate is D-2451.

I then moved on to the next project in my pile which is 403066 for which Dow said they would sell 10 tons from D-1149. Part of that transaction had already been input, and IMS then showed 10.1 tons remaining because when it was initially input, D-1149 had 20.1 tons. Because the sale should be from D-2452 in light of project 403019, I tried deleting the D-1149 sell entry on the xaction info screen. Now all that's left is the buy entry for Oxid. Before I hit delete, there was DERC Retained of 10.1 in D-2459; DERC Sell of 10.0 in D-1149; and DERC Buy of 10.0 in Default Company (should be Oxid). Help, please. Thanks.

Alyssa Aston - DERCs problem

Hi Ann,

I was recently given a pile of old pending DOW transactions, and I'm wading through them. I think I just made a mistake that requires a repair by you - sorry. I just put together the package for project 403019 (hasn't gone through the management chain yet). In that project, Dow is selling 7 tons of NOx DERCS to Exelon from D-1149 and retaining 13.1 tons. Dow's new certificate is D-2452, and Exelon's certificate is D-2451.

I then moved on to the next project in my pile which is 403066 for which Dow said they would sell 10 tons from D-1149. Part of that transaction had already been input, and IMS then showed 10.1 tons remaining because when it was initially input, D-1149 had 20.1 tons. Because the sale should be from D-2452 in light of project 403019, I tried deleting the D-1149 sell entry on the xaction info screen. Now all that's left is the buy entry for Oxid. Before I hit delete, there was DERC Retained of 10.1 in D-2459; DERC Sell of 10.0 in D-1149; and DERC Buy of 10.0 in Default Company (should be Oxid). Help, please. Thanks.
